"Showing gratitude is one of the simplest yet, most powerful things humans can do for each other." – Randy Pausch

I express my gratitude to you and highly appreciate your kind-hearted contributions that you render time and again for the wellbeing of our children. The children of our home have just finished their Diwali occasion and rejoined the school. The children just wait eagerly for the Diwali occasion. Diwali is a Hindu festival where people share sweets, light lamps everywhere, and, above all, children enjoy crackers. Children were given the opportunity to draw different colorful rangolis, and we were happy to see them partaking in the rangoli competition groupwise and coming out with various themes like nature care, peace, a loving community, etc. We organized a short Diwali program with our children to make them happy and to make them understand the meaning of the celebration of Diwali. The festival symbolizes the victory of light over darkness. So, this was a beautiful opportunity for us to teach them the greatness that is hidden in holding values of truth, love, peace, and harmony. So, they learn to respect and live a value-centered life.

Apart from the various celebrations, we keep them intact in their studies, so they are focused and perform well in their academic studies.

Once again, I thank you, dear friends, for thinking of our children and generously sharing your goodness with us. May God bless you and grant you success in all your endeavours. Thanking you,

With prayers
